

What logic in the universe would want to limit my ability to pay for a premium service to listen to the music of my choice and listen to the traffic & weather reports when I need them for a particular city I am traveling to or through.